Terms of use for the HiBaby app

Last updated: 29 October 2026

These terms of use govern your use of the HiBaby app for iOS and Android and its web version ("HiBaby"), offered by ACTIMI GmbH, Albert-Schäffle-Str. 119, 70186 Stuttgart, Germany ("ACTIMI", "we"). By registering for or using HiBaby you agree to these terms. If you do not agree, please do not use HiBaby.

1. What HiBaby is

HiBaby is a companion for your pregnancy. You can enter values such as blood pressure, pulse or weight or measure them with connected devices, keep entries and share them with your practice or your partner. HiBaby takes over readings from devices unchanged.

2. No substitute for medical care, no emergency service

HiBaby does not assess your values, makes no diagnosis and gives no treatment advice. It does not replace your doctor or your midwife. Your practice does not watch your entries continuously or in real time; HiBaby is neither a monitoring service nor an emergency service. If you feel unwell or are unsure, contact your practice. In an emergency, call 112.

3. Cost

HiBaby is free to use.

4. Your account

- You need an account with an email address you can access. Your details must be correct.
- Keep your password secret and sign out again on devices that are not yours. Tell us if someone has unauthorised access to your account.
- HiBaby is meant for people aged 16 and over; younger people need the consent of their parents or guardians.

5. Your entries

Your entries belong to you. You grant us only the rights we need to store them, show them to you and share them with the people you choose. You are responsible for what you enter being correct. You alone decide which practice and which person sees your entries, and you can end any sharing at any time. Our privacy policy describes how we process your data.

6. Connected devices and third-party services

HiBaby can take over readings from Bluetooth monitors made by other manufacturers. Those manufacturers are responsible for their devices' accuracy; follow their instructions for use. We are not responsible for the content of third-party websites and services HiBaby links to.

7. Availability

We work to keep HiBaby available at all times but cannot guarantee it, for example during maintenance or outages. Readings taken without an internet connection are kept by the app and sent later. We keep developing HiBaby and may change features.

8. Acceptable use

Use HiBaby only for your own pregnancy and only within the law. Do not try to access other people's data, get around HiBaby's security or disrupt the service.

9. Ending and deletion

You can delete your account at any time in the app under Settings. If you seriously breach these terms, we may suspend or close your account; where possible we will tell you.

10. Liability

We are liable without limitation for intent and gross negligence, for injury to life, body or health, and under the German Product Liability Act. For slight negligence we are liable only for breach of essential contractual obligations, limited to the typical, foreseeable damage. Otherwise liability is excluded.

11. Changes to these terms

We may change these terms when HiBaby or the law changes. We tell you about material changes in the app at least 30 days in advance. If you do not agree, you can delete your account.

12. Final provisions

German law applies, excluding the UN Convention on Contracts for the International Sale of Goods. Mandatory consumer protection rules of your country of residence remain unaffected. If a provision is invalid, the others remain in force.
